Early History of Purdue University Athletics

It is noted by Winthrop E. Stone, Chairman Faculty Committee on Athletics in an Annual Report of the Officers of State of the State, 1900, "...Since Purdue students first began to evince an interest in athletics, the Faculty has, as a matter of policy, presented an attitude of sympathy and co-operation; at the same time insisting upon a constant recognition of the principles of clean, manly sport, and of a proper subordination of athletics to other important interests of the University and students. In the pursuance of this principle, Purdue has acquired an enviable reputation in athletics, and has been at times recognized as one of the most progressive institutions of the middle West in its athletic policy."

It is noted in this report that there is no record of the first intercollegiate contests in which Purdue students participated, but it is highly likely that baseball games were played with neighboring institutions early in Purdue's history.

The first field day contests were held by the graduating class of 1887.

In the fall of 1887 the first intercollegiate football game was played with Butler College. Stone notes in the report, "Since that time, which may be considered as about the beginning of the introduction of this game in the West, Purdue was engaged regularly in this sport with all of the leading colleges of the Middle West."

In 1893 a group of citizens of Lafayette offered a silver Tiffany cup to the college which was able to hold the football championship of Indiana for three successive years. The cup was won by Purdue, and from 1891 to 1899 Purdue was acknowledged champion of the State in football.

Stone also states, "Previous to 1891, games of baseball and football had been played on grounds located in the city, and Field Day sports were conducted upon the drives and lawn of campus. In 1891 the Trustees voted to set aside a plat of eight acres, immediately to the north of the campus, to be used as an athletic field, and to be known as Stuart Field, in honor of the President of the Board, the late C.B. Stuart. Money was appropriated to enclose the field, and the work was completed on April 15, 1892. The field was dedicated the following day by a baseball game with Butler College. From funds derived from admissions fee, the Athletic Association constructed in 1892 bleachers capable of seating about eight hundred persons."

In 1898, the sophomore class contributed money, labor and material for the construction of a banked racing track around the outer edge of Stuart Field, oval in form and one-third of a mile in length, and also a cinder path for straight-away running events. The same class, upon graduation, gave President Smart $500 to be used for the construction of a covered pavilion for the athletic field. This pavilion was able to hold 600 persons and was erected during the summer of 1899 on the west border of the field.

Stone also notes in his report, "...The organization of athletic affairs at Purdue has been based upon a fair representation of all interested, and upon a systematic and business-like management. Previous to 1890 each athletic sport represented in the University had its own directors, selected from the student body. In June, 1890, an athletic association was organized which, however, did not reach its full development until May, 1891, when at a student mass meeting, a constitution was adopted, and the machinery of the Purdue Athletic Association was set in operation."

In the fall of 1894, President Smart issued a call for a conference on athletic matters between the Presidents of Illinois, Chicago, Northwestern, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and Purdue. The meeting was held in Chicago, January 12, 1895, with all the Presidents reporting, with the exception of President Angell of Michigan. A draft of rules for the regulation of intercollegiate sports had already been prepared by President Smart and was adopted at this meeting. Indiana and Iowa later joined this "College Conference on Athletics."

Collection Description

Scope

The Purdue University Athletics collection (1800s-2016; 10.5 cubic feet) documents Purdue athletics from the earliest years to recent times. The majority of the collection consists of items related to Purdue football; a scrapbook of clippings from the 1800s that contains Purdue football related articles from Lafayette, Indianapolis and Chicago newspapers. The clippings include an article about Purdue's first football win on November 16, 1889, an article about the game against Wabash, November 23, 1889, that prompted the nickname "Boilermakers," and the first game played against Indiana University in 1890. Also included are numerous football programs, yearbooks and press releases and marketing material from Purdue's participation in the 1967 and 2001 Rose Bowl games.

Other items of note are newspapers that feature headlines and stories about the 1947 bleacher collapse, a record book from the earliest years of the Purdue Women's Athletic Association, items related to Purdue Field Days and memorabilia dating back to the earliest years of Purdue sports. There is also a collector set of five Purdue Pete bobble heads, featuring the various Purdue Pete designs from 1956-2016.

Types of materials include: artifacts, booklets, brochures, clippings, Women's Athletic Association constitution and bylaws, handbooks, newspapers containing information on the 1947 bleacher collapse, posters, photographs, press releases, programs, records, scorecards, statistics, tickets and yearbooks. The collection is organized into six series and corresponding sub-series:

Arrangement

Series 1. Football, 1880s-2012 (6.5 cubic feet). The football series is comprised of the following six sub-series. Materials in the series are arranged chronologically, unless stated otherwise.

Sub-series 1. Historical Information and Clippings, circa 1880s-1976 (0.25 cubic feet). This sub-series includes 3 scrapbooks containing clippings; the first album contains Purdue football related articles from Lafayette, Indianapolis and Chicago newspapers. The clippings include an article about Purdue's first football win on November 16, 1889, an article about the game against Wabash, November 23, 1889, that prompted the nickname "Boilermakers," and the first game played against Indiana University in 1890. The second album contains newspaper clippings relating to the undefeated conference champions of 1929, and the third features newspaper clippings and photographs relating to the Purdue football team, circa 1930-1950s. The sub-series contains other pertinent historical information, including books on the history of Purdue football and articles, including one by Purdue alum, George Ade (1887) and illustrated by alum, John T. McCutcheon (1889); "Football now and then and then and now," November 16, 1929.

Sub-series 2. Programs, Scorecards, Schedules, Tickets and Miscellaneous Items, 1892-2012 (3.30 cubic feet). The scorecards, tickets and miscellaneous items in this sub-series are mainly from the earliest years of Purdue football. The football programs start with 1892 and go through 2012. The programs feature articles on the history of Purdue football, Purdue traditions, buildings, prominent individuals and events on campus. Team rosters, biographical information on coaches, staff and team members, significant anniversary events, advertisements from area businesses and other information relating to Purdue and competitors are featured in the programs.

Sub-series 3. Media Guides and Yearbooks, 1944-2004 (1.20 cubic feet). The media guides provide significant biographical information on coaches, staff and players at Purdue and for the season's scheduled opponents, including team rosters and records. Also contained in the guides is general information and historical facts about Purdue and West Lafayette. The yearbooks are published by the Athletic Public Relations Office of Purdue University, and provide feature stories on "Purdue's advantages," season outlook, information on the season's opponents, coaching staff, athletic leaders and player profiles, previous year in review, Purdue football records, features on honored Purdue Boilermakers, Purdue football history and media information.

Subseries 4. Final Statistics, 1982-1995 (0.8 cubic feet). The final statistics provide records for each game played during the season. Some of the statistics also provide game notes and quotes from the locker room.

Subseries 5. Rose Bowl, 1950-2001 (0.4 cubic feet). The Rose Bowl sub-series contains material from Purdue's participation in the 53rd Rose Bowl vs. University of Southern California on January 2, 1967 and versus Washington in the 87th Rose Bowl, January 1, 2001. Included is an extensive report and press releases from the University News Service in 1967. 2,000 copies of the report were sent to all Indiana newspapers, radio and TV stations; the special newspaper, radio and TV Rose Bowl lists; internally to deans, directors and department heads. The report includes examples of publicity material used. The objective was to provide the news media with information about Purdue University other than the football team and athletic program.

Also included are programs and a pictorial from 1967, tickets from the game (1967) and event invitations (2001). The series is rounded out with alumni publications from other universities which feature stories about their Rose Bowl experiences, 1950-1957.

Subseries 6. Artifacts and Posters, 1987-2008 (0.6 cubic feet). The posters in the sub-series are Joe Tiller era bowl game posters and fan outreach posters. There are a few artifacts; a salute to Drew Brees towel, Purdue logo window cling, bumper sticker, buttons and stickers; “Hammer the Hawkeyes” and “Block ‘79.”

Series 2. Men’s Basketball, 1900-2006, (0.9 cubic feet). The men’s basketball series consists of 4 sub-series and are broken down as such:

Sub-series 1. Historical Information, Clippings, Placemats/Advertisements (basketball related) and Programs, 1900-1999 (0.2 cubic feet). Key items in this series feature an information sheet with scores for the first Purdue basketball seasons, 1900-1902, a collection of placemats from the 1937-1939 seasons that have basketball schedules and starting lineups for Purdue and their opponents and a few programs from the 1920s-1940s. There are also programs from the dedication of Mackey Arena, December 2, 1967 and the 25th anniversary of Mackey Arena in 1992.

Sub-series 2. Media Guides and Yearbooks, 1964-2000, (0.2 cubic feet). Media guides from 1964, 1980s and 2000-2001 seasons are in this series. The guides contain information to assist sports writers and broadcasters in their coverage of Purdue basketball and are published by the Purdue Athletic Public Relations and Communication Office. Yearbooks from the 1990s are also featured in this series. The yearbooks are published by the Athletic Public Relations Office, and they provide historical and biographical information on coaches, staff, teams, opponents, season statistics, feature stories on alumni and campus events.

Sub-series 3. 1947 Bleacher Accident, 1947-2006 (0.4 cubic feet). This sub-series is comprised of front page headline stories about the Purdue bleacher collapse that occurred on February 25, 1947 during the halftime of the Purdue versus Wisconsin game. The newspapers have been retained, but scans have been made for preservation purposes. Also included are a few key photographs that appeared in some of the press releases about the tragedy.

Sub-series 4. Men’s Basketball Posters, 1980-2006 (0.1 cubic feet). Three posters have been separated out in this series for preservation purposes. Two posters feature the season schedule with photographs of the team and Matt Painter, and one is a poster promoting senior leadership.

Series 3. Hockey and Baseball, 1894-2000 (0.1 cubic feet). Very little is available for this series. There is one program from Purdue Hockey, 1999-2000. It is noted in the program that the Purdue Ice Hockey Club is a school sponsored club sport, under the direction and advisement of the Division of Recreational Sports.

The series also contains baseball scorecards from the 1880s and a program from the “First Annual Indiana Interscholastic Baseball Tournament and State High School Track Meet,” in 1912.

Series 4. Track and Class Day/Field Days, 1887-1941 (0.2 cubic feet). Programs, admittance tags and schedules from Purdue Field Days and track meets held in the 1880s-1900s are featured in this series. The Purdue Field Days were often sponsored by the senior class and consisted of various athletic competitions between Purdue students/classes. There are also track programs from the 1920s and a program from the 31st Annual Indoor Track and Field Championships of the Intercollegiate Conference Athletic Association, 1941.

Series 5. Women's Athletics, 1925-2000 (0.7 cubic feet). The Women's Athletics series includes a ledger with records and minutes from the Purdue Women's Athletic Association meetings, 1925-1928, along with the constitution and by-laws for 1926 and 1931. Also included are volleyball and basketball yearbooks primarily from 1995-2000. Posters in the series feature the 1999 NCAA National Championship team and Big Ten Tourney Champions; "Purdue's Arch Angels," Final Four in St. Louis, 2001 and "Rockin' the Big Dance, Jammin' to Cleveland," 2006-2007.

Series 6. General and Intercollegiate Information, Intramural Athletics and Recreational Sports, 1800s-2016 (2.1 cubic feet). This series is comprised of Purdue Athletics historical information, records, regulations and conference rules from the late 1800s-1930s. There are The Boilermaker Letterman newsletters from the 1940s, special Exponent sports issues from the 1960s and issues of Gold & Black Illustrated from 1991 and 2005-2008. A collector set of 5 Purdue Pete bobble heads featuring the various designs of Purdue Pete from 1956-2016 also reside within this series.

This series also contains brochures, a handbook and guides related to Purdue Intramural Athletics and from the Division of Recreational Sports, circa the 1800s-2005.
